class history

when we entered armstrong high as green freshmen, we were awed by those people called "seniors." as sophomores we gained confidence as we sponsored the annual christmas party. that year we chose our class rings. in our junior year we studied american history and worked hard to sponsor the junior-senior prom, "unforgettable."

finally the long-awaited senior year arrived. we discovered that this was the busiest time of our high school life. as we look back on our four years at armstrong, we express gratitude to our parents and teachers who helped us change from grade school "grads" to young adults.

class will

we, the members of the senior class of 1961, of armstrong high school, city of armstrong, county of vermillion, state of illinois, being of sound mind and body, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

to mr. husted we leave a new supply of nerves.

to mr. ahlf we leave our appreciation as an excellent class advisor.

to mr. stagen we leave polka dot gym pants for playing basketball so we can see him coming down the gym floor.

to mr. knudson we leave gum-free chairs and a cooperative music department.

to mr. mears we leave a new supply of elements and pyrex glassware.

to mr. savini we leave a more cooperative annual staff.

to betty we leave someone to help her type and mimeograph tests.

to the cooks we leave boys who don't take more than one carton of milk.

MESSAGE

Guidance may be defined as the assistance given to students in the solution of problems that lay outside the area of classroom situations. A guidance department must be conscious of student problems; problems of occupational selection, college choice, study habits, course of study planning, adjusting to high school, and preparing to meet the problems of college or occupational adjustment. It is a service for the students. A testing program is set up so the students may know their capabilities and define their interests. Information is available on any college, university or trade school, occupations from artist to zoologists, study habits, how to apply for jobs, what employers expect, and many other areas. Guidance must not imply the direction of a student's choices but rather to help the student take the responsibility of self-direction.
